

Kandisky Barbero design

'The color is a means to exert a direct influence on the soul. Colour is a key, the hammer that strikes the eye, the soul of the instrument of a thousand strings' (W. Kandinsky)

With this cuckoo Projects pays tribute to the great Russian artist creator of abstract painting. It is made of three intersecting circles (clock, cuckoo clocks and pendulum) of different sizes and colors reminiscent of the art of Kandinsky, which was inspired by the balance of power and weight between the geometric elements and their interaction with the colors. Just the circle took on a special meaning for the artist, who said, 'the circle, I use it so much in the last period, sometimes can not be called anything but romantic.'

The cuckoo Kandinsky is designed in three color versions: blue-yellow-green, yellow-orange-red and black-white-gray.
