

Time Travel

Design Gianluca Minchillo

Time Travel is a series of wall clocks originating from the designer's idea to allow people who live in a country other than their city of origin to feel 'at home' through time; but not only, it also allows us to dream of a destination and to follow the time where friends and relatives live.

Time Travel takes you today to New York, Cairo, Rio De Janeiro, Agra, Paris, Tokyo, Berlin, Barcelona, Venice, Florence, Hong Kong and Prague ... choose your destination.

The clock is made up of two elements, one in black-painted wood which is the base and the other in metal, shaped and colored the same color as the hands, different for each city, applied frontally leaving a space between this element and the base so as to make the object more material and give it depth.
